SQL NULL

NULL is neither equal to a value or uneqal to it, so any comparison involving NULL is neither true or false.

The result of a comparison involving NULL is not a boolean value, it is a non value.

You can't compare something that exists with something that doesn't exists!